

MONDAY, AUGUST 1, 2005

ogram cellence

Biloxi recently ssissippi Main t the associa- peting. Missis- ograms in 22 it the largest nization in the ecognized for ational excel- adership and the Best Orga- Among Biloxi ograms cited rs Fair, brown the downtown ries.

Retention/ ogram award for the Blue stor Fair. The for local and s, developers ners discussed drives, trends, ng alternatives s.

339 or www. com.

—SUN HERALD vs@sunherald.com

RT BRANCH PEN!
lorth, Suite E
Phone Number:
6054
vigator
IT UNION
1-800-344-3281
torcu.org

celebrate Out

Watch Block Tuesday from ime Outlets as ght Out. Law c groups, busi- borhood orga- s the nation port crime and nd strengthen spirit at this

r vendors and safety person- safety informa- e a space walk, rain rides and The police also give away asked to turn lights at 5:30 of the event. e also collect- for The Sobr

Hancock readers receive a 'Gift'

Mya Earhart, 2, of Waveland, from left, Destiny Garcia, 8, of Bay St. Louis, and Raven Caspolich, 5, of Waveland, listen as Kathy Chase Young reads her book, 'The Gift,' at the Hancock County Library in Bay St. Louis.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY JOHN FITZHUGH/SUN HERALD

Children listen as Kathy Chase Young discusses food in children's literature at the Hancock County Library in Bay St. Louis.

Children's author Kathy Chase Young recently visited the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library for a special reading of her book "The Gift". More than 25 children and 10 adults gathered to hear her story of a secret family recipe passed down through the years and how such traditions can be used to bring families together. Following the reading, the group decorated cupcakes.

Debbrelah Holt, 11, left, of Diamondhead, Amanda Nordin, 13, of Bay St. Louis, and her cousin, Katie Taylor, 10, of Bush, La., scoop up icing for their cupcakes at the Hancock County Library in Bay St. Louis.